

Latin Metals – Summer 2025 Investor Update

It has been a productive summer for Latin Metals. Between project advancements, corporate developments, and investor outreach, we've been laying the groundwork for an active and catalyst-rich fall.

Recent News- Project Highlights

- Para Copper Project, Peru: Expanded with additional mineral rights, Para now hosts multiple drill-ready porphyry copper targets defined by historical Vale data and Latin Metals' own exploration. This project is shaping up as a near-term catalyst with discovery potential.
- Organullo Gold Project, Argentina: Expanded by acquisition of the Malena VI property, further strengthening our option agreement with AngloGold Ashanti and cementing a strong partnership in Salta Province.

Investor Outreach – Building Momentum

This summer marked our most active season of investor engagement to date:

- Presented at the Rule Symposium (Boca Raton), connecting with a global audience of resource-focused investors.
- Participated in CEM Kelowna, where we built relationships with Canadian family offices and institutional investors.
- Conducted site visits and held multiple project-level meetings, raising visibility for our Partner Pending Projects.

Where to Find Us Next

Looking ahead, Keith Henderson (CEO) and I will be at the Precious Metals Summit in Beaver Creek, September 9–12. If you are attending, we would welcome the chance to connect to discuss Latin Metals' upcoming catalysts.

Key Catalysts – Next 3 Months

- Advancing drill permitting at Para Copper Project.
- Cerro Bayo Partner Pending
- Ongoing progress at Organullo with AngloGold Ashanti.

Looking Ahead

This summer has confirmed the value of increasing our marketing and outreach initiatives — investor awareness is growing, interest in Latin Metals is building, and we are positioned for an exciting fall season.
